

SPORTS DAY SUCCESS— great attitude, great effort!

Dear Families,

Yesterday was a fantastic day where children got an opportunity to grow resilience, to shine, to support and to congratulate. It was a joy to see them support each other when they needed a kind word or an encouraging smile; to celebrate wins and successes and to just enjoy each other's company. It really was a pleasure and a real testament to the teaching both at home and at school about sportsmanship, determination and integrity. Thank you to all of those who could come along and enjoy the afternoon with us. I know the children adore days where the whole community comes together to share an event.

Another amazing opportunity to come together and enjoy life was at the very first Treloar's Arts Exchange. It was a creative showcase for Alton schools to celebrate all the arts— music, dance, art, poetry etc. Due to the magnificent performance of the EDC group dance to Growing On Me earlier in the year, we chose this. It was a magnificent day and it was all hosted by Luke and Elliott an award-winning double act who perform comedy locally and nationally! Very special! The photos say it all. Very well done!

Tomorrow is the Bentworth Fete which is a huge fundraiser for us as this supports the church, local charities and also the school— we are so grateful to the village for this kind of support. Please do come along and see me at the café, or buy something from an Apprentice Stall or visit a PTA Teddy Game. We will be singing and dancing at 2pm to open the event after Jess Rowe performs the honours officially. There is also the Cookbook on sale! It is brilliant and makes a great gift. See you there 2-5pm!

Miss Baker is leading today's Sharing Assembly as a 40th birthday treat (I also have to attend a County meeting)!

Kind regards, Mrs Jo Ayres Headteacher

Key habit we are learning this half term : Mental Toughness !

Reframe

When you're worried, you don't see things the way they really are. It helps to write down what you're worried about and then describe the situation as if you were a kind and honest observer.

Everyone saw what happened and now everyone's talking about it. All my friends are going to be fed up with me. I know my parents will find out and they will be angry with me too! Everything has gone wrong!

I made one mistake and the teacher has helped me understand the problem. One of my friends heard but s/he hasn't said anything. People who care for me will help me too. This was just one action from today. I've done lots of other things well today.

Please talk through with your child how to be accurate, be kind and ask if it is necessary to think like that.

I'm pretty sure my next class is going to be impossible because everyone will already know exactly what they're doing except me. If I say the wrong thing even once, the whole year will probably be a disaster and everyone will think I'm weird. I just know I'm going to get lost, mess up, and somehow ruin everything.

I think my best friend doesn't like me anymore just because she sat next to someone else at lunch. Now I'm pretty sure our whole friendship is ruined and she's never going to talk to me again. I don't know what I'm going to do tomorrow because everything feels like it's falling apart.

Sunrise Breakfast Club and After School Club Update

This week, our Breakfast Around the World adventure took us to Morocco

The Sunrisers enjoyed tasting Baghrir, a traditional Moroccan semolina pancake. Baghrir is made from a light batter of semolina and flour, creating its famous "thousand holes" as it cooks. It is traditionally served warm with melted butter and honey. The Sunrisers also sampled sweetened Moroccan mint tea, a drink that is enjoyed throughout the day in Morocco.

This was our final Breakfast Around the World stop for this academic year. We have loved traveling through the alphabet, discovering new countries, cultures, and breakfast traditions, and we look forward to continuing our journey in September.

To keep breakfast exciting until the end of term, we will be serving cold cocoa on Mondays, inspired by how popular it was when we explored Hungary. On Wednesdays, the Sunrisers can enjoy a freshly blitzed yogurt, banana, and berry smoothie. These special breakfast treats will be available until the end of this term.

Top tips on how to talk to your children about their feelings

It can be so tricky to bring up difficult topics, and talking about emotions with your children can sometimes feel more than a little daunting for parents and carers. You may worry about saying the wrong thing, making your child feel uncomfortable, and even worry about making them feel worse. But the fact you want to explore emotions with your child is enough, even if sometimes it doesn't go as you planned!

Here are some handy tips on how you could begin talking to your children about their feelings.

Ask them what they need

It can be tough to talk about how you feel, and when we want to talk about things as parents, children don't always want to or feel ready. Asking what a child needs from you can help them feel more in control, heard, and respected.

Children might also not know what they need, so suggesting a few options can be a good starting point. For example, do you need some space right now?

Name it

Sometimes it can be hard for children to identify their feelings. Naming what you observe can help them to do this. For example, when talking to a young child, you might say, "You seem really angry today. I can see you are clenching your hands, and you don't have a happy face. I wonder if anything has made you angry or upset?"

Listen carefully

This sounds pretty straightforward, but sometimes, when we care, we may jump into problem-solving mode a little too hastily. And while it might come from a really good place, it's not always helpful.

Choose your timing wisely

Talking about feelings, or any difficult subject, can be quite sensitive. Choosing a time when you are both calm and relaxed can be more useful than choosing a time when there are any heightened emotions already at play.

Think about the setting

Talking about feelings can be really sensitive, so making sure the space is private, comfortable, and feels safe for your child can be key to a positive outcome.

Practice asking open questions (rather than closed ones)

Closed questions usually encourage yes or no type answers. Open questions, on the other hand, go a bit deeper and encourage more thinking and exploration. This simple difference in style might help your child consider their own thoughts and feelings a little more and encourage them to share more of their story or problem with you.

Think about whether your child feels ready to talk

Just because you want to talk doesn't mean they feel ready to. Look out for the things they say, and their body, too, for indicators on whether they really want to talk about their feelings.

Model it

Being more open and honest about how you yourself feel (in an age appropriate way, of course) can normalise the idea of talking about emotions. Children who see that adults also have big feelings, doubts, get scared or anxious, get frustrated with others at work, etc. might feel more comfortable opening up themselves.

Get creative

We might feel a pressure to have all the answers and say the right things, but sometimes, we just need to think a little differently. Helping our children express their feelings through play or using art materials can be just as important and useful, especially for much younger children whose natural language is often play.

Take away the intensity

It can be pretty daunting (on both sides) to sit down to talk about something as important as feelings. But decreasing some of the intensity can sometimes reduce the pressure and make things a little less stressful.

WATER SAFETY

Stay safe. Have fun. Enjoy the water.

DROWNING IS ONE OF THE LEADING CAUSES OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH IN CHILDREN IN THE UK. MOST INCIDENTS ARE PREVENTABLE.

As the weather warms up, children and young people spend more time around water – at home, on days out or on holiday. Let's keep them safe.

Almost half of drownings occur during the summer months when temperatures are higher – especially when 25°C or above.

THE HSCP WATER SAFETY TOOLKIT FOR PARENTS & CARERS INCLUDES:

- EVERYDAY RISKS AT HOME
Including bath time safety and garden hazards.
- STAYING SAFE OUTDOORS
Such as the beach, around rivers and in open water.
- PRACTICAL SAFETY ADVICE
Including the Water Safety Code and how to "Float to Live".
- AGE-SPECIFIC GUIDANCE
For babies, young children, older children and teenagers.
- WHAT TO DO IN AN EMERGENCY
Including simple first aid steps and where to find further support.

Small actions, big difference

- ✓ Keep children within arm's reach of water.
- ✓ Choose safe places to swim.
- ✓ Talk to your children about water safety.

Together, we can help prevent tragedies and keep our children safe this summer.
